Water Charges Will Jump Starting July 1

N.B. Conservatives Ousted by Liberals

Twenty-five Cent Boost To Private Residences

A blanket increase in water rates will be charged by the City of Kelowna after July 1.

City council Monday night gave second reading to a bylaw which would:

- Increase the deposit for meters by tenant or occupant from $5 to $7.50.
- Increase rates for private residences within the city on lots of 12,000 square feet or less from $2.75 to $3. If the home uses a meter, the minimum rate will be increased from $2.50 to $3.25 per month. The gallonage rate for these homes would also increase from five cents to seven cents per 1,000 gallons, providing more than 3,000 gallons is used.
- Increase rates for city lots of over 12,000 square feet from $3 to $3.25 per month.
- Charge a flat rate of $1 per month for each apartment or suite in the city. (This has been done for some time here).
- Assess each licenced lodging house or boarding house a flat rate of $2.50 per month for each licenced room in city.
- Increase commercial-user rates from $2.50 to $3 per month. If the firm uses a meter, the minimum rate is increased from $2.50 to $3, with gallonage rates for over 3,000 gallons increased from five cents to seven cents per 1,000 gallons.
- Industrial and hospital users remain at a minimum rate of $2.50 per month, with gallonage rates over 3,000 increased from five cents to six cents per 1,000 gallons.
- Increased rates for premises outside the city from a minimum rate of $3.50 to $4 per month. The gallonage rate from 10 cents to 12 cents per 1,000 gallons, providing more than 3,000 gallons is used.

Ald. C. M. Lipsett, chairman of the city water committee today stressed the increases were not "hidden" until after the affirmative boundary extension vote.

He said the figure of $3 to average private homes was quoted to ratepayers in all boundary extension discussions.

"NOTHING NEW" "This is nothing new," he said, explaining the matter was first decided early this year when the preliminary budget was being drawn up.

Council attributes the increases for the most part to higher costs of operating the system, including labor and materials.

Ald. A. J. Treadgold, commenting on the move said "even with the increase, the rates in Kelowna are far less than other centres." This was said to be particularly true for industrial users.

"The rates are quite realistic," said Ald. R. D. Horion.

Mayor R. E. Parkinson stated the city profit from water services was steadily dropping.

"This has nothing to do with boundary extension."

Fraser Canyon Line Cleared

ASHCROFT, B.C. (CP) — The Canadian National Railways trans-continental line through the Thompson Canyon here was re-opened early today after a 75-man work crew cleared away debris of Monday's fast freight derailment in which two trainmen died.

The work crew removed an overturned diesel unit and seven derailed cars laden with fruit and bulldozed away tons of rock which fell onto the line early Monday, causing the derailment.

B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. here reported none of the fruit, said to be on the wrecked train was shipped from the Okanagan.

for nearly 2½ hours after polls closed at 7 p.m.

Mr. Robichaud and Mr. Flemming, 61, were each elected early with big majorities. Mr. Robichaud led the three-man Liberal ticket in Kent county and Mr. Flemming led his two Conservative running mates to re-election in Carleton.

The Liberal leader is the first Acadian premier elected in the province's history.

Mr. Robichaud said he had "ample material" from which to pick a cabinet. He said he thought he would name the cabinet within 15 days.

Four members of Mr. Flemming's cabinet were defeated: Mines Minister Norman B. Buchanan in Charlotte, Joseph W. Bourgeois, president of the executive council, in Moncton, Edgar Fournier, chairman of the New Brunswick electric power commission in Madawaska, and Industry Minister Roger Pichette in Restigouche.

Also beaten was W.J. (Tony) Gallant, who ran as a Conservative in Northumberland, where four Liberals won. He was elected as a Liberal in 1952 and 1956 but became an independent in 1958, saying he was fed up with "party censorship."

PREMIER FLEMMING

shouted later to his 30-year-old wife Lorraine, who was staying in Moncton with her sister.

A strong Liberal trend was evident in early returns but the closeness of voting in several ridings left the outcome in doubt with "party censorship."

Gov't Acts To Pave Way For Railway

VICTORIA (CP)—Three 11th-hour moves by the provincial government Monday paved the way for the Pacific Northern Railway to fulfill its commitment to start construction of a line through Northern British Columbia by Thursday.

At the same time it was learned that Premier Bennett and Transport Minister Wicks will be at Summit Lake, north of Prince George, Wednesday to take part in official ceremonies marking the construction start.

Mr. Wicks made the first move Monday by issuing a certificate approving plans for the railway to build a 600-mile line from Summit Lake to the Yukon boundary.

The cabinet followed this by extending the railway the right to take over 95.11 acres of crown land near Summit Lake for marshalling yards. The location is near the point where the PNR is to join the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

An order-in-council also was passed authorizing the route of the railway. Prices and other details of the transactions will be worked out later.

Mr. Wicks said he would attend opening ceremonies for the line but didn't say when.

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Eisenhower, with a show of friendship, personal statesmanship, has warned the United States against taking any economic action against Japan simply because Communist-inspired mobs prevented his visit to Tokyo.

Since the loss of the Chinese mainland to the Reds in 1949, he told a national radio and television audience Monday night, it should be apparent to all that the U.S. must depend to an increasing extent on the friendship of Japan and other Far Eastern countries.

Disruption of economic relations with Japan would weaken Japanese-American friendship and would be a victory for the Reds. And though the Reds had been successful in preventing Eisenhower's visit to Tokyo, they had failed to prevent ratification of the Japanese-U.S. defence treaty.

OUTWEIGHED LOST VISIT "Obviously that signal defeat for international communism has outweighed in importance the blocking of my scheduled visit," Eisenhower said in reporting on his 23,000-mile Far Eastern tour.

Eisenhower also sought in his report to defend his own general ventures into personal diplomacy. Here his argument seemed weakened by the presentation of what appeared to be conflicting lines of thought.

These goodwill trips abroad were so successful in fighting communism, he said, that the Communists simply decided they had to stop the visits by all means. That is why they set out to wreck his Tokyo visit.

But then again, as State Secretary Herter already has announced, Eisenhower is not planning any more trips abroad before stepping down from office Jan. 20.

He wouldn't hesitate a moment, he said, to make another trip if some unforeseen event developed to make such a trip

By DON HOYT Canadian Press Staff Writer

FREDERICTON (CP) — New Brunswick elected a Liberal government and the youngest premier in Canada Monday after eight years of Progressive Conservative rule.

Louis J. Robichaud, 34-year-old Acadian lawyer from Richibucto, N.B., led his party to a sweeping victory that stunned Premier Hugh John Flemming. To call it a surprise, said Mr. Flemming, would be "a superlative of understatement."

The result compared with the last election:

	1960	1956
Liberals	31	15
PCs	21	37
Total	52	52

Mr. Robichaud had predicted his party would capture 32 seats. The decision by the electorate was seen as an endorsement of the Liberals' main campaign pledge — to abolish premiums for hospital insurance, which amount to $50 a year for a family and $25 for single persons.

It was also an apparent rejection of Conservative warnings that the three-per-cent provincial sales tax would have to be increased to carry out the promise. The Liberals said that by eliminating waste and extravagance the provincial share of the $17,000,000 annual hospital cost could be paid from general revenues.

"WE COULDN'T LOSE" Mr. Robichaud, whose English is nearly flawless although he spoke only French until he was 20, said: "We had an excellent platform and excellent candidates and I knew that we just couldn't lose."

"Mum, we won, we did it," he said.

Rock 'n' Roll Show Causes Teen-Age Riot

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—An estimated 8,000 to 10,000 screaming teen-agers Monday night ran riot at a rock 'n' roll show sponsored by the International Freedom Festival.

An unexpected throng of Windsor and Detroit youngsters turned out to bellow approval, dance and clap at the three-hour outdoor show.

As first fighters broke out, police stopped teen-agers, armed with bricks and stones near the bandshell. Several youngsters jumped on and damaged a station wagon.

A few police and a handful of Frontiersmen — special police — stood by to stop the outbursts. Several times the master of ceremonies stopped the show.

Ambulances took two to hospital with minor injuries.

British Dock Strike May Force Empress To Return With Cargo

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters)—The Empress of Britain, 25,500-ton flagship of the Canadian Pacific fleet, sailed into the strike-paralyzed Liverpool docks today with passengers, grain, timber and fruit.

The passengers were being landed but the cargo was expected to remain in the holds to return to Montreal when the ship sails again Friday.

Other incoming ships joined the line-up waiting to find a berth in the 11 miles of silent River Mersey docks.

The week-long stevedores walk-out at Liverpool and Birkenhead over wages, working hours and pensions spread Monday to the nearby port of Manchester.

Port officials estimated today that about 14,000 men were on strike in the three ports leaving 141 ships unmanned.

WEATHER Forecast: Mostly sunny today and Wednesday. Little change in temperature. Light winds. Low tonight and high Wednesday at Kelowna 50 and 85. Temperatures recorded Monday 52 and 82.

Sprinkling Regulations Adopted To Permit More Equal Pressure

Sprinkling regulations will go into effect in Kelowna July 1. The regulations, similar to those made last year, are based on the even-odd system and will continue until the peak periods of water consumption are passed.

Under the plan, residents in odd-numbered houses will sprinkle only on odd days (July 1, 3, 5 etc.) and the even-numbered houses may sprinkle July 2, 4, 6 etc.

All householders will be allowed to sprinkle when two consecutive odd days occur, for instance Aug. 1, following July 31.

EQUAL PRESSURE

The regulations are not of a restrictive nature, and not due to any potential shortage of water at the source. They will be instituted to allow a more equal water pressure in all parts of the city. At peak periods, Kelowna often uses 400 gallons per capita per day. Ald. A. J. Treadgold said today the Public Utilities Commission considers 125 gallons per day sufficient in most centres. He added residents could use as much water as they wished on "their days."

11 KILLED, 44 TRAPPED

Mine Disaster Toll May Rise

ABERTILLERY, Wales (CP)—At least 11 men were killed and 44 others were trapped 1,000 feet underground today by an explosion at the Six Bells coal mine.

Families of the miners gathered at the shaft head as volunteer rescuers from nearby mines fought through smoke and debris to try to reach the trapped miners.

One miner, 43-year-old Harold Legge, who was in the shaft at the time of the explosion, said: "I was about half a mile from the coal face. I heard a roar and there was a terrific flash."

"I found it difficult to breathe, and I stumbled to the pit bottom through the dust. A young man was killed only 20 yards from me."

The explosion in the Six Bells Collier occurred 1¼ miles from the shaft, 354 yards below the surface.

Rescue officials said it "might be days" before the men, caught near the point of explosion, could be reached where they were trapped more than a mile from the main shaft.

Surprise Upset In Nomination Of Two Socreds

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Social Credit MLAs failed to win renomination in a surprising upset in Delta riding Monday night.

George Massey and Dr. Gordon Gibson lost out in a close race to Don Riggan, president of the Delta Social Credit Association, and Ernest Le Cours, a Richmond school principal.

Mr. Massey, who suffered a stroke a year ago, was eliminated in the first ballot.

Noel Murphy, B.C. Social Credit League president who was chairman of the meeting, said: "I'm sure there was no intention to reject Mr. Massey. I believe you had under consideration the state of his health and what another four-year term would do to his health."

Mr. Massey said after the meeting that he had been feeling better and thought he could take another session.

ENROUTE HOME

Premier Bennett is expected to arrive home before the weekend where he will spend a few days. Next Monday, Mr. Bennett will be at the court house after 10 a.m. to see his constituents. Appointments may be made through Government Agent E. Ross Oatman. The government office will be closed Friday and Saturday.

Legislation Kills Business Trucker Tells Commission

A private trucker told a royal commission on road users taxes here today he would be "forced out of business" should the present regulations continue.

Pat Duke was presenting a brief on behalf of H. J. Le Blanc Trucking, of Lumby.

He termed the increase in licence fees "totally unrealistic and unfair," and something which shifted a burden, which should be borne by the whole community, onto the shoulders of truckers.

The increase in fees was made this year under the new provincial department of commercial transport act.

He cited figures showing his licence fees had risen by 50 per cent in 1960.

The quarterly-licencing system was an "improvement" on the former plan, but granting of monthly certification would be a "more realistic approach to the problem locally," he claimed.

He stated his firm had purchased quarterly licences for the first period of this year and had only operated for eight days.

The private operator claimed the "theory of government circles" that logging trucks caused the most damage to B.C. roads was "founded on a fallacy."

Mr. Duke also declared that roads maintained by private lumber interests were "far superior" to secondary government roads.

He concluded his brief by proposing that the fuel tax be raised by one cent per gallon to gather the funds necessary for road upkeep.

He also suggested that weight restrictions be removed.

TRAVEL PERMITS Harold Hildred, representing B and H Logging Ltd., told the commission hardship was imposed on his firm in that it operated trucks on a private road and had to pay for permits to travel to and from Kelowna for servicing.

Peter Dyck, who appeared Monday, in a private capacity, spoke today as president of the I.A.

He suggested the practice of basing safety regulations on weight should be abandoned, and a system based on board footage introduced.

Dr. H. F. Angus, chairman of the commission, said he wished it to be clearly understood it was not inquiring into practices or economies of the logging industry, nor was it the function to adjudicate on what was a proper or safe load.

The committee adjourned here today, and will sit again in the Grand Forks area later this week.

Irene Rebrin's Counsel Cites Appeal Reasons

VANCOUVER (CP) — Alleged errors and omissions of technical nature were cited Monday as reasons for the B.C. Court of Appeal to quash a deportation order against Irene Rebrin.

Dr. M. C. Shumatcher of Regina spent four hours presenting the many-faceted and often complicated argument on behalf of Miss Rebrin Monday. He was expected to continue his submission when court resumed at 11 a. m. today.

Miss Rebrin, 33-year-old University of British Columbia language lecturer, is appealing a B.C. Supreme Court decision by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris which upheld the deportation order against her.

The deportation order was issued in January, 1959, after Miss Rebrin, who came to Canada on a visitor's visa in 1958 from Brazil, had applied for permanent residence. Immigration Minister Fairclough rejected her appeal a year later.

Dr. Shumatcher repeated many of the arguments which failed to win the favor of Mr. Justice Norris, but placed a greater emphasis Monday on submissions that the order is invalid because certain things were omitted from it and because government ministers had not acted within the statutes in drawing up the form.

The appeal is being heard by Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay, Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard and Mr. Justice J. M. Coady.

'Yankee Go Home' Japanese Chant

TOKYO (AP) — Nearly 5,000 pickets chanting "Yankee go home" marched past the American embassy toward Parliament today in Japan's 11th straight day of left wing demonstrations.

The marchers were blocked by a solid wall of police 50 yards short of the embassy building. They continued toward Parliament and the official residence of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, where some dispersed.

Some of the demonstrators, organized by the Communist party and left wing labor unions, carried placards demanding a pull-out of American troops from Japan and South Korea.

Similar demands were voiced by a rally of 3,000 pro-Red Korean residents of Tokyo, held separately to mark the 10th anniversary of the Korean War.

Gov't Surplus Shows Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Buoyant tax revenues have left the federal treasury with a $149,100,000 budgetary surplus for April and May, first two months of the current fiscal year.

Finance Minister Fleming's monthly treasury report issued Friday night showed a rise in revenues of $90,400,000 over the corresponding period of last year. This outpaced a $29,900,000 gain in expenditures.

The two-month surplus compared with a surplus of $88,600,000 a year earlier. Mr. Fleming's March 31 budget forecast a $12,000,000 surplus for the entire 1960-61 year.

Baby Contest Adds Interest To Fashion Show At Enderby

ENDERBY (Staff) — Swirling skirts, and flashing colors caught the eye of parents and friends at Enderby 4-H fashion show recently.

Mrs. L. Kotlyak gave a short and interesting speech on the future aims of the club.

This was followed by a report given by Diane Kotlyak on the past work of the 4-H Club.

Mrs. E. N. Peel who has had a great deal of experience in this line, was commentator.

Models were Mae Baird, Judy Daem, Eva Mae Cleland, Wendy Hassard, Alice Johnson, Rosalie Kohlman, Diane Kotlyak, Alvina Lundman, Stella Milum, La Verne Rausser and Barbara Rand.

The girls modeled dresses they had made themselves. Another delightful feature of the evening were clothes from other lands, Japan, Mexico, Spain and the Ukrainian.

A decorative lattice entwined by dainty vines covered the front of the stage as only the immediate floor of the gymnasium was used. Miniature fences lined the walk gaily adorned with flowers. The basketball ring was surrounded by clusters of flowers and a trellis in fan shape was also covered with blossoms.

Chairs were set in horseshoe fashion giving viewers a good glimpse of the young models.

The power has been shut off in the Ashton Creek district for the last two weeks due to work being done on the lines. The power lines have been replaced by those which continue up to Hunters range, so the lines are now transferred to newer positions.

The gathering also bade farewell to Mrs. Gordon Carbert and Mrs. George Trimble, who are leaving the district. The Trimble family will join Mr. Trimble at Castlegar, while the Carberts will make their home in Peace River City, Alta.

VERNON (Staff) — Health authorities here are doubtful if improved chlorine contact facilities will greatly change the quality of Okanagan Landing's domestic water supply. Safe bathing at Kinsmen beach is also a major factor.

"It's impossible to predict the outcome but we are extremely pessimistic that the domestic water supply will be safe," Dr. Duncan Black, North Okanagan Medical health officer said this morning.

Tests will be taken by the health unit two or three days after improved chambers are installed.

One of the functions of the new installation will be to retain chlorine-treated effluent for a longer period of time.

However, the only solution to Okanagan Landing's pollution problem is another bylaw, Dr. Black declared.

He added that the plant was overloaded and required extensive renovation.

A $475,000 bylaw for a new sewage treatment plant did not receive the necessary majority vote in December.

While drinking water may be unsafe, it is not unlikely pollution will be decreased sufficiently to allow safe bathing at Kinsmen beach, Dr. Black indicated.

Signs were posted there Sunday warning that the water is unsafe.

City clerk Ian Garven said this morning that completion of the new chlorine contact chambers "might take two weeks."

Council, he said, was hopeful pollution would be "considerably decreased."

Registration Set For July 4 and 5

Gov't Surplus Shows Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Buoyant tax revenues have left the federal treasury with a $149,100,000 budgetary surplus for April and May, first two months of the current fiscal year.

Finance Minister Fleming's monthly treasury report issued Friday night showed a rise in revenues of $90,400,000 over the corresponding period of last year. This outpaced a $29,900,000 gain in expenditures.

The two-month surplus compared with a surplus of $88,600,000 a year earlier. Mr. Fleming's March 31 budget forecast a $12,000,000 surplus for the entire 1960-61 year.

TRADES TOOLS FOR RETIRED LIFE

HONORED HERE

Pioneer Contractor Retires

By CHARLES E. GIORDANO
Daily Courier Staff Writer

Saturday, June 25 was a normal day in the lives of almost all Kelowna citizens. But for one local man it was a day that put the cap on 47 years of tedious construction work in and around the Kelowna area.

Egidio Orsi, a man who started out with a primitive mixing box and hod and today has the most modern plastering machinery in British Columbia, is joining the ranks of the retired.

And to make it official, Mr. Orsi's many friends, relations and business associates, showed their respect Saturday with a party and many gifts.

The affair, attended by more than 150, was held at the home of Art Orsi, Mr. Orsi's youngest son at Lakeview Heights, Westbank.

Greeted with a large banner, reading Viva Signor Gildo (meaning long live Gildo in Italian) Mr. Orsi was completely surprised although he had planned retiring since the first of the year.

Gildo, as he's known by his friends, came to Kelowna in 1913 from his native homeland Italy. From first arriving in the city

Pat Johnston Mayor Of District Teen Town

Pat Johnston has been inaugurated for a second term as Mayor of Kelowna's Teen Town.

Other officers installed for 1960-61 at a banquet in the Aquatic Club, Monday, are: Linda Thompson, deputy mayor; Loraine Tupman, secretary; Ken Millar, treasurer; Kathy Hillier, parliamentarian.

V. S. Pendakur, the guest speaker, said Teen Town was a sound training for future service in democratic institutions. It was concerned with a social rather than business philosophy, he continued, and this was the source of

He concluded by warning them of the dangers of becoming stagnant in their organizations or in their attitude to life.

Gordon Smith, Lions Club representative to Teen Town and its adult adviser, told his club colleagues present he wished the Lions could run their meetings as efficiently as did the Teen Towners.

Mr. Smith and his wife were both honored for their service and consideration shown to the teen-agers during the year. Mr. Smith was presented with a pair of silver Ts, the emblem of Teen Town, while Mrs. Smith received a silver salver.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson said he looked forward to even closer association between city council and the Teen Town administration.

"You'll probably find we're not such a crowd of 'inequities'" he declared. "You might learn something from us — and we might learn something from you."

Mayor Johnston welcomed the guests and outlined a program to keep her council busy for the next 12 months.

Trade Licences OK

Four trade licences have been issued by city council to firms and individuals wishing to operate here.

They were granted: Vincenzo Gagliano, Vancouver, (peddling) bedspreads, cushion covers and scatter rugs; Domenic Gagliano, (peddling) bedspreads, cushion covers and scatter rugs; Sterling V. Crandall, (three rooms for rent), 446 Sutherland, Herbert Anderson (retail trader), 1716 Richter.

"BINGO" AND FRIEND

This boxer, "Bingo", earned his CD (Companion Dog) and CDX (Companion Dog Excellent) certificates at recent trials held in Richmond. He was top scorer in the boxer section and

JAYCEE CONCERN OVER BEACH AREA

The city will look into the possibility of installing buoys offshore near the Aquatic to keep boats away from the swim area.

The action follows a letter from the Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce, expressing concern with the fact some boats are travelling at high speeds near the bathing area on the beaches.

The Jaycees suggested the city fine boaters who travel in this area.

Ald. A. J. Treadgold told council Monday the city has no authority to impose fines for this activity.

L. R. Stephens Again Heads Federation

L. R. Stephens, of Kelowna, has been re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Okanagan Federated Shippers Association.

All other officials were re-elected for the ensuing year. They are: K. W. Kinnard, Vernon, president; George R. Clarke, Kelowna, vice-president; P. S. Sterling and P. K. Wynne, Vernon, M. J. dePuyffer, Kelowna, A. Bennie, Penticton, and A. E. Hill, Oliver, directors.

Mrs. F. Aylen was re-named assistant secretary-treasurer.

Standing committees of the federation submitted reports and members were advised of the success which had attended their efforts in the removal of sales tax from containers used for harvesting fruits and vegetables.

JAMES MARKLE ... special praise

Potential Bugs Watched For By City Heads

Mayor R. F. Parkinson has suggested all city department heads submit lists of potential difficulties arising out of boundary extension. In this way, the mayor indicated, the problems could be "ironed out before they begin."

"All the hurdles are over," he said, and asked that all work be done quickly in order to make greater Kelowna official as soon as possible.

Sitting at the first meeting of council since the vote was approved, Mayor Parkinson said he felt "humble" in view of the confidence expressed in extension by ratepayers.

He praised members of council and the boundary extension committee for "their untiring work, particularly in the last two years."

Ald. Arthur Jackson, chairman of the committee also thanked his group, and singled out James E. Markle, for special praise.

Mr. Markle, the city assessor, acted as secretary for the committee for more than three years during negotiations and planning with outside areas.

Youths Praise Service Group

Kelowna Lions club was honored at the Teen Town inauguration banquet in the Aquatic Club Monday.

Deputy Mayor Linda Thompson, on behalf of the teen-agers, presented a scroll of appreciation to W. A. (Bill) Morrison, past president of the Lions here.

It recorded the gratitude of Teen Town for the assistance and patronage of the adult organization.

Individually honored were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith. He is the Lions representative to Teen Town and is its adult adviser. He was awarded silver Ts, the symbol of Teen Town. Mrs. Smith was presented with a silver salver.

Pat Johnston, installed for a second term as mayor, received a pair of golden Ts from her colleagues.

Zone Regulations Will Be Drafted

City council here will establish a committee soon to draft zoning regulations for greater Kelowna.

The body will include representatives of the former city and the new areas of Glenmore and Woodlawn-Cameron.

Ald. E. R. Winter told city council Monday the new zoning map should be ready by "take-over time."

It is hoped to complete legal matters dealing with the recently affirmed boundary extension by Jan. 1.

No Action Taken On Truck Routes

City council has "sympathized" with a city resident who complained about truck noise on Richter St., but can do nothing about it.

In a letter to council the woman, mother of a spastic son, asked council to designate another street for a truck route, as the noise disturbed sleep in the area.

The city only has the right to restrict the height and width of any vehicle on streets, providing they do not make unusually excessive noise.

Penticton Firm May Continue City Operation

A Penticton food-handling firm has met with health requirements and will be allowed to operate in Kelowna.

The firm, Luigi's Red-Hot Foods, distributes prepared sandwiches, hot dogs and hamburgers to beverage outlets.

Last week, council informed the operator of the firm he would face cancellation of his trade licence if he could not explain why no refrigeration had been installed in his vehicle.

In a letter read to council Monday, the operator said he had been using a quick-freeze method for preserving his wares, and the food was transported in ice-packed containers.

He said this system was used widely in other centres.

In allowing the firm to operate, the city warned checks would be maintained on the truck to determine if health standards were being upheld.

presented to the federal government by the Okanagan Federated Shippers Association.

The position until this month was that western growers were paying taxes on the containers while those in eastern Canada were not.

The government has now legislated to make containers tax-free on a dominion-wide basis.

This represents an annual saving of $25,000 to the Okanagan.

L. R. Stephens, secretary-manager of the Okanagan Federated Shippers Association, told The Daily Courier today it was decided at a recent meeting of the executive to press for refund of those taxes already paid at a time when eastern growers were enjoying exemption from them.

"I can see no possibility of the claim being rejected," he said. "The federal government will not countenance taxes which discriminate between different sections of the country."

Mr. Stephens also said that every grower will benefit from the savings arising from the recent tax-remitting legislation, as they will go to reduce overhead expenses in the individual packinghouses.

Rev. Leitch Honored By Mayor, Council

The city has honored Rev. R. S. Leitch who retired recently from pastoral duties at First United Church.

Prisoner Guard Will Be Hired

An additional police guard will be hired for the Kelowna detachment in the near future to free a uniformed constable for patrol duties.

It is understood the guard would work a night-shift with the present night guard working days. The guard will also relieve the uniformed men of some of the "routine" paper work.

The suggestion of hiring the extra man came from Staff-Sgt. M. N. MacAlpine who said at present his men were "hard pressed to maintain the level of efficiency."

Recently the senior officer for the British Columbia RCMP division wrote council refusing a request for the posting of two additional constables here due to a shortage of manpower.

City Voters' List Reveals Curious Facts About Firms

There were many points debated during the course of the boundary extension educational campaign, but no point so discussed as any other, any sillier than one which the campaign brought to light.

It is a condition which probably has existed for years and probably will continue to exist. Yet it is absurd and quite unnecessary.

One would think that any business would jealously guard its right to express its opinion on a major civic issue which might affect it for better or for worse in a major degree. One would think that reappointment of their voting agents would be as automatic as the reappointment of their auditor. Yet, in some firms certainly, it is far from automatic and in some, forethought, it is quite ignored altogether.

In the Kelowna voters' list there are a number of firms listed as owners-electors who were not able to vote on the boundary extension bylaws because they had not kept their representatives up-to-date.

Take, for instance, the Bank of Montreal. The bank's voting agent is A. E. Walters, a former manager now in Victoria and who has been away from Kelowna for more than two years during which time the bank has had no representation on civic matters.

The Kelowna Creamery's agent is still D.

K. Gordon (who was surprised to learn it) yet the company has been sold twice since Mr. Gordon had any connection with it.

W. W. Darroch retired from active participation in the affairs of B.C. Tree Fruits about two years ago, but he is still listed as the company's voting agent.

We understood that N. Taylor had sold his interest in the Royal Anne Hotel three or four years ago and moved to Vancouver—which he certainly did—but he is still listed as the hotel's representative as far as voting in the city of Kelowna is concerned.

It has been a good many years now since G. C. Hume was a member of the board of school trustees. Yet he still has the authority to vote for the board in any civic election!

Our guess is that it is about eight years since C. T. Hubbard retired as local manager of the Okanagan Telephone Company. Yes, you guessed it—he is still the company's voting agent.

And then—but why go on? Surely these are enough to prove our point that a great many reputable organizations are very careless when it comes to keeping tabs of their civic responsibilities and privileges.

And when they are so very, very careless, they may rest happy because they are in good company!

Hypnotized By Our Own Talk

Optimism is a good thing. But optimism, without a generous sprinkling of realism, can be overdone.

Earlier in the year, Canadians were regaled with a lot of glowing talk about the "spectacular sixties" upon which we were entering.

This was based on the comfortable assumption that in these sixties the achievements of the fabulous fifties would be repeated—disregarding the fact that basic conditions are decidedly different.

Some refreshing remarks came recently from Stuart M. Finlayson, president of the Canadian Macaroni company, in an address to the Association of Canadian Advertisers.

Mr. Finlayson said: "We operate in this country under some very comfortable delusions, fostered by our own attitudes to our products and what we tell ourselves about them. North America has fooled itself for some time that every one else in the world is trying to emulate its standard of living. We must stop kidding ourselves . . . that our scientific thinking and scientific knowledge are such as to surpass the rest of the world. We must not fool ourselves that all original thinking goes on here. And it is not necessarily true that three motor cars in every garage make for a more prosperous or happy household."

Mr. Finlayson is right. The plain truth is that many Canadians for far too long have been hypnotized by their own talk about our great expanse of country, and our vast resources. Both are fine things to have. But when the chips are down prosperity will depend not upon the wide open spaces or the great natural resources so much as upon our ability to produce, to innovate and to remain competitive in world markets.

A living standard which rests upon the mortgaging of Canada's future is no occasion for complacency.

Political Pollsters Facing Critical Test In U.S. Vote

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Professional pollsters face a critical test this year as they feverishly attempt to tap the minds of U.S. voters to determine who the next American president may be.

Will Vice-President Nixon retain the White House for the Republicans in the November U.S. election?

Can youthful Democratic Senator for John Kennedy convince his colleagues he can sweep the country with his popularity?

Will a presidential darkhorse emerge from the South?

Has twice-defeated Adlai Stevenson a chance for a comeback?

Almost daily, the pollsters eagerly publish the results of their latest pulse-taking on these and other political questions.

Joining the scientifically designed penetration in depth by the national organizations are the efforts of private groups doing tailor-made surveys for political customers and the potshot straw polls by newspapers, magazines and other periodicals.

RIGHT OR WRONG
Behind each test of the country's mood and opinion, behind each survey and published prediction lurks the shadow of the pollsters' 1948 catastrophe. Will the pollsters be able to avoid the embarrassment of another totally wrong prediction?

The 1948 election results told doom for the professionals. All of them had been totally wrong. They had predicted an easy White House victory for Republican Thomas Dewey only to find the people had re-elected Democrat Harry Truman as president.

What went wrong?
There was a rush of excuses. There hadn't been enough polling-taking in the final days before voting day. No one had counted on a possible last-minute switch in the voters' minds. The Republicans, resting on predictions of that most private polls here use, pollsters, had become complacent. They had slackened their fight in the last few days of the campaign.

Some recalled the fate of the Literary Digest which had conducted straw polls for 20 years in 1936 and then collapsed, until it called the wrong shot in 1936.

THE PROS PREDICT
But the professionals such as the well-known George Gallup and Elmer Hoper continued to pump out their surveys. General logical successors to the dog sleds, they and their colleagues and the river bank in conquering correctly predicted the 1952 and transportation problems over 1953 President Eisenhower victory territorial expansion.

But critics say that while the all-weather highways — coming 1952 and 1953 election results paired with 8,000 miles of certified may have been relatively easy to line up.

But critics say that while the all-weather highways — coming 1952 and 1953 election results paired with 8,000 miles of certified may have been relatively easy to line up.

on the lines of 1948 than 1952 or 1956.

Neither Nixon nor Kennedy nor any of the other presidential hopefuls appears to have the personal attractiveness, the prestige or the vote-getting "pull" of an Eisenhower — a man who emerged on the political scene after leading the Allies to a great victory.

The 1960 presidential fight is therefore likely to be tight and the vote close, leaving little room for margin of error in election predictions.

The professionals say they've sharpened their tools and gained experience to new closer to the voter's moods.

But one critic, Democratic Senator Albert Gore of Tennessee, doesn't agree. He feels the public opinion polls may be "grossly misleading," tending to create a bandwagon for the candidate favored in the poll. Gallup denies this.

Somewhere in the middle of this controversy is Richard M. Scammon, elections research director of the Governmental Affairs Institute. Scammon believes the national polls have sharpened their scientific tools but anticipates that an inaccurate prediction is possible if a close vote develops next November.

Miss McCutcheon and her father at the controls.

Her father is an Anchorage lawyer who got his first flying instructions 21 years ago and who has owned a dozen planes since then.

BUSY AIRFIELDS
There are more than 300 airports in Alaska. And almost any lake, river, and bar, beach or snowfield is fair game for a pilot seeking a landing place for planes equipped with floats, wheels or skis.

Lake Hood airport here is the largest private seaplane base in the world. More than 200 float planes are moored there.

WIND OF CHANGE!

Britons Growing Concerned Over Whole Defence Setup

By STEWART MACLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Unmistakably, Britons are growing more and more concerned over the whole business of defence.

The government's decision to scrap the Blue Streak missile and pin its hopes on the American Skybolt promoted this surge of interest. Other factors are the recent disclosure that postwar defence has cost Britain £20,000,000,000, and the current defence rift within the Labor party.

Virtually every day some newspaper or television commentator wades into the issue, asking such questions as: "Have we sold out to the Americans?" "Exactly where do we stand?" "What have we got for our money?"

The over-riding question of the last few years—whether Britain should maintain H-bombs—seems to have become lost in the shuffle, no doubt temporarily.

NEWSPAPERS WARN
The government's decision to scrap the British Blue Streak missile—which had already cost nearly £100,000,000—and rely on the Skybolt, got a mixed reception in Britain. Newspapers kept pointing to Canada's problems over the American Bomarc, with suggestions that the same thing could happen with Skybolt.

The government, faced with mounting criticism over its massive defence spending, says the decision can be justified on economic alone. While no figures are available, Skybolt is expected to cost only a fraction of Blue Streak's ultimate price.

And more important, Skybolt—a long-range stand-off bomb—will come to Britain without any strings attached to its nuclear warheads.

Roughly, the picture is like this:

Britain is putting nearly all its defence faith behind the deterrent power of about 200 V-bombers, armed with H-bombs. Plans now are under way to disperse these planes in various overseas countries so potential enemies won't know their whereabouts.

After 1965 the H-bombs are scheduled to be replaced with Skybolts and the V-bombers will continue to carry the main deterrent.

EASY TARGETS
The RAF is also equipped with American-controlled Thor missiles, but because their permanent locations are considered sitting ducks for counter-missiles, their value is being questioned.

Except for the atomic capabilities of carrier-based aircraft, the navy has no nuclear hitting power, and critics say it is incapable of maintaining open sea-lanes to Britain.

However, four ships, which will carry the sea-to-air Seagull missile, now are under construction and the first atomic-powered submarine will be launched this year. Officials say this is simply the beginning of a nuclear navy.

Present strength is four aircraft carriers, five cruisers, 54 destroyers and frigates and 31 submarines.

Critics say the army, whose striking power is built around two regiments of short-range Corporal missiles and anti-aircraft Thunderbird rockets, is suffering from the same problems as the navy. Despite a gradual swing toward nuclear warfare, its greatest strength is confined to the conventional field. Some critics say it's unrealistic for Britain not to have nuclear anti-tank weapons when Russia is known to have about 35,000 tanks.

PERIOD OF TRANSITION
Government spokesmen say the picture is far brighter than popularly painted. They describe this as a period of transition, when the roles of the three armed services must, in certain respects, be reversed. New weapons are on the way.

But they say that Britain, with so many overseas territories to watch, can't afford to throw everything into the nuclear age and leave herself defenceless against "brushfires." In many respects, they say, Britain's problem is unique.

In the next few years, they predict, the new forces will begin to take a definite shape, new weapons will be adopted, and Britons will see a clear return for their investment.

BIBLE BRIEF
O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God. How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out. — Romans 11:33.

We will never understand all God's ways, but we can have faith in Him and reap all the benefits of His beneficence.

OTTAWA REPORT

Ceremony Of 300 Years

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

Some Canadian travellers are beginning to trickle back from holidays in Europe with delightful accounts of a visit to Oberammergau to witness the famous Passion Play.

Oberammergau is a small village in Bavaria, nestled beneath the towering Alps. It is only 60 miles from the busy industrial capital of Munich, yet time has passed it by for more than three centuries. It is a pretty little village of simple homes, inhabited by some 1,700 peasants, and probably boasts the highest level of civic virtue and Christian nonchalance in the world.

The history of Oberammergau is very simple. In 1333, the plague known as The Black Death swept across Western Europe. Its infection took a huge and tragic toll in sudden death; beyond the then limited means of medicine to avert or to cure, in gratitude for final relief from this deadly scourge, the surviving villagers swore to demonstrate their faith by enacting every ten years a representation of the passion and death of Jesus Christ.

VOW OBSERVED 300 YEARS

The first Passion Play was staged the following year, 1334. Half a century later, the dates were switched to the even ten years; the vow has been fulfilled regularly ever since, except in 1870 and 1940 when war prevented it.

The script of the play was written by the monks in the nearby monastery of Ettal. It consists of many scenes, representing the chief events of the last week of the Life of Our Lord. Each scene is preceded by a tableau, representing a parallel event in the Old Testament. The whole performance lasts eight hours, and calls for a caste of 700 performers, or nearly half the population of the village.

Starting at 8 a.m., with a brief interval at mid-day, the play continues all day on a huge open-air stage, with the audience of 6,000 seated on wooden benches under a huge roof. When one buys a ticket for the play, one gets a package deal including a bedroom for the night before and the night after the performance and meals. These are probably in one of the pretty little houses where the villagers live, and half the family are likely to have roles in the play. As neither make-up nor false wigs or beards are permitted to the actors, your meal may be served by a Bavarian peasant groomed to look like a biblical character—long-haired and bearded if a man, proud in nature's undorned beauty if a woman. When I saw the Passion Play some years ago, I was accommodated in the house of Judas Iscariot; and judging by the healthy farmyard smell, he kept his milk-supplier beneath my bedroom.

VILLAGE INDUSTRY
Starting the first Sunday in May, there are perhaps 60 performances spread over five months. The villagers mostly live for the honor of playing a role in the ten-yearly presentation. They groom themselves to suit the role to which they aspire, and this applies to their character as much as to their appearance. While the hundreds of thousands of tourists who come to see the play, plus those who just come to see the village of the play in off-years, constitutes a bonanza, the villagers also cater to tourists by specializing in wood-carvings appropriate to the theme of the Passion Play, and similar touristic souvenirs. The village itself is a feast for the eye and the colour-photograph fan, for nature's setting is improved by the beautiful frescoes painted on the colored stucco homes.

It is very surprising that some pretty little Quebec village has not felt the financial urge, even if not the religious yearning, to make itself into "an Oberammergau of the New World."

Junior Hospital Auxiliary Gives Bassinets To Hospital

Mrs. R. Lupton, president of the Junior Hospital Auxiliary recently presented the hospital eight more individual bassinets which were received by Mr. Hugh Caley, a director, on behalf of the hospital.

The Junior Hospital Auxiliary took on the project of refurbishing the maternity nurseries with bassinets. These bassinets are composed of a stainless steel carriage enclosing a cupboard space for storage of linen and equipment for the individual baby, a plastic basket and foam rubber mattress. Twenty units were required to replace the old type.

The first six were given in January 1959, a further six in June 1959 and with this donation of eight the project is complete. The total cost was $3,517.67 which represents a tremendous amount of effort on the part of the members, particularly when it is remembered that the auxiliary have also donated other equipment during this time.

EXPRESSES THANKS
Mr. Caley and Mrs. A. Cormack expressed the sincere appreciation of the board not only for the financial assistance but also for the support which the auxiliary furnish by stimulating the interest of the community in hospital affairs.

It is through such efforts by the citizens that the hospital can continue to improve its facilities to meet the needs of a growing community.

Venezuela Seals Borders In Hunt

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—President Romulo Betancourt, his face swollen and hands bandaged as a result of the bomb search.

blast that narrowly missed killing him, pressed a search today for those behind the plot.

Betancourt, back in Maracaibo Palace after being treated in the hospital for injuries, told reporters the attack was part of a widespread plan to overthrow his government and set up a new dictatorship.

"The incident shows that the enemies of democracy—national and international—will resort to every possible means to try to establish tyranny in the country," Betancourt told reporters.

Venezuela's borders were sealed off, air travel halted and some constitutional guarantees suspended to facilitate the search.

Mayor Denies "Twin City" Suggestion

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor George Nelles of Ottawa denied Friday that he is considering asking city council to become a "twin city" with Moscow on the basis of friendship.

He said the suggestion on "twin cities" was put forward at the Cornwall, Ont., Thursday by a reporter while he was touring the St. Lawrence Seaway project with Mayor Bobrovnik of Moscow.

"The fact that I did not deny it caused the reporter to accept the proposal as fact. There is absolutely no truth to the report."

He said no consideration or discussion is taking place on such a subject and that no recommendation will be made to council.

"INFANT MORTALITY"

Theatre Standards Slip In Britain

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Infant mortality has struck more than a dozen plays in London's west end in recent months and attendant physicians supply varying diagnoses of the cause of death.

The simplest answer is offered by the younger and harsher theatre critics on Fleet Street, who complain almost daily to their readers that Britain's playwrighting standards are not what they were.

An equally direct reply comes from the authors and producers of some of the short-running plays. They blame the critics for killing the plays off in their opening-night reviews before they have a chance for vital nourishment at the box office.

In Britain, where the letters-to-the-editor column is a lively forum for public debate, almost unanimous critical roast of the playwrights has been the final curtain to tell the audience what he thought of the calibre of the reviewers.

He appeared on stage after 'nard Shaw's Pygmalion. Two other musicals, Irma La Douce and West Side Story, are next in line.

Other post-mortems have attempted to establish a change in the theatrical tastes, arguing that the day of the light, frothy drawing-room comedy is done and that light-hearted reviews, clowning a hearing.

As a result, theatre managers are ruthless with anything that doesn't pack the house from an opening night onwards, readily finding a successor to put in its place.

The situation has been alleviated by the opening of three new theatres in the last two years, almost all the critics, although a number of other productions Aspern Papers as its curtain-raiser and hasn't changed the bill.

But recent casualties include a second Christie thriller, Go Back for Murder and a number of musicals, reviews and serious plays. One of the latter, Inherit the Wind, was highly praised by theatres in the last two years.

An answer to the paradox is offered by The Financial Times, which suggests that many of the victims are simply squeezed out by the housing shortage. There simply aren't enough theatres to give shelter to all the plays seeking a hearing.

Some of the most successful west end invasions have been launched from the hinterlands of the suburban Theatre Royal, Stratford, the Royal Court and the Lyric, Hammersmith.

The equivalent of New York's off-Broadway circuit, these three tiny theatres have sent a succession of lively productions to the big time. One of the most notable, Brendan Behan's The Hostage, has just closed after playing more than a year to undiminished houses.

At the other end of the scale, the scene of the crash.

Canadian playwright Patricia Joudry earned the melancholy distinction of achieving the shortest run of the year when her comedy, Will You Walk a Little Faster? was withdrawn after five performances.

MEMORIAL LAND
VICTORIA (CP)—Eight acres of land six miles east of Culbass Lake has been set aside as a permanent memorial to the 62 persons killed in the 1956 crash of a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane on Mt. Slesse. The land is around the site of a monument erected by TCA some miles from the scene of the crash.

Body's Heat Regulated By Your Duct Glands

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Your duct glands will keep you as comfortable as possible during the hot summer months. The duct glands—you may call them sweat glands—are the body's heat regulators. They are the most important part of the body's air conditioning system.

HOW IT WORKS Each of us has millions of tiny pores which release perspiration upon the surface of the skin. The evaporation of this perspiration helps to cool us by lowering the body temperature. When the temperature outside the body drops lower than your normal blood temperature of 98.6 degrees, the pores of these Sweat glands can easily become clogged with dirt unless care is taken to keep the face and body clean. The familiar blackhead is nothing but dirt packed hard into a sweat gland. To keep your pores free of such dirt, I strongly suggest that you wash your face thoroughly with pure soap and warm water at least twice a day. Be sure to remove all the soap. A daily bath is advisable, of course, and at least three baths a week are almost mandatory during the hot weather.

SEBACEOUS GLANDS While the sun and warm weather tend to dry the skin, the sebaceous glands keep it from becoming too crisp. These are tiny sacs which open around the hair shafts. They secrete an oil substance called sebum which prevents the skin from drying. These glands also tend to become clogged with dirt unless the skin is cleaned adequately. If your skin is exceptionally dry you might use a little safe cleansing cream. Leave it on long enough to allow it to penetrate before wiping it off.

QUESTION AND ANSWER Mrs. W. E.: After any physical effort my husband breaks out in hives and his hands and feet swell. I have been told that this could be an allergy due to physical effort. Could this be true? Answer: Hives are often caused by physical allergy. However, since there are other possible causes, a careful study by your doctor is indicated.

Opening lead — king of clubs. Most errors at the bridge table are of a simple sort. It is not the difficult hands that cause the loss of myriads of points, but rather the far more frequent run-of-the-mill hands that play havoc with par.

Take this hand, for example. West opened the king of clubs. East played the ten to signal a doubleton. West continued with the ace and another club. East ruffed to bring his side to three tricks. East took a spade and South took the ace.

BOB FRIEND, PITTSBURGH PIRATES' RIGHT-HANDED HURLER

A STRONG CANDIDATE FOR 1968 COMEBACK HONORS.

IN 1958 BOB TIED FOR MOST NATIONAL LEAGUE WINS WITH 22, BUT LAST YEAR WAS "TOP" MAN IN LOSSES WITH 19. NOW HE'S LOOKING MORE LIKE HIS 1958 SELF AGAIN WITH 5 VICTORIES IN HIS FIRST 6 DECISIONS COMPARED WITH 7 STRAIGHT LOSSES THAT BEGAN 1959.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW Mixed planetary influences now! Mars' position indicates a tendency towards emotional conflict and lack of self-discipline, but the Moon in Virgo favours routine matters, dealings with superiors. So the day's results are really up to YOU.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that if, since the beginning of this year, you made constructive plans for job advancement and an improvement in your financial status, then followed them conscientiously, the next twelve months should bring, if not complete, at least partial fulfillment of your aims. Keep forging ahead since you are currently in a fine cycle for achievement. You should note really strong upturns in August, November and for a period of at least six months, beginning in January.

This new year in your life also promises much in the way of domestic, social and romantic happiness, and there is a likelihood that a short trip taken either late in August or early in January, will prove exceptionally pleasant. New romance will be in the celestial spotlight during August and early December. Next May will also have planetary sanction along these lines. If you happen to be engaged in creative work, look for an opportunity to capitalize on your talents in October. But work quickly. The good influences then will not last long.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a magnetic personality and fine capabilities, but will have to curb a tendency towards sensationalism.

Bill Chobatar took winning honors on the Club 13 mound while Gibb Loseth suffered the loss for Blue Caps.

Club 13 racked up six runs in the first four innings and were out front 6-0 by the sixth when Gibb Loseth spoiled the shutout with his home run.

Blue Caps made a hard bid piling up two more runs in the same inning on two hits and two errors and adding another tally in the seventh.

Club 13 closed the scoring in the eighth.

Get Monies For CAHA

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—Canadian hockey clubs and organizations affiliated with the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association last week received from the CAHA cheques totalling $86,346.

Gordon Juckes of Melville, CAHA secretary-manager, announced Monday.

Juckes said the cheques included $58,346 paid to junior and senior clubs that participated in CAHA playoffs this spring and represents the profit made by the clubs in both Allan Cup and Memorial Cup series.

The CAHA, during playoffs, also paid out of gate receipts another $85,000 in club expenses.

Other cheques issued, said Juckes, were for the promotion of minor hockey. Each of the CAHA's nine branches had received $3,000 for this purpose.

Another $1,000 was earmarked for the continuance of the CAHA's successful minor hockey week promotion each year.

McGUIRE ESCAPES INJURY

Jim McGuire, shown above in the cockpit of Miss Kelowna Too owned by Kelowna's Art Jones, escaped serious injury over the weekend in a crack-up in Detroit's 14th Memorial Powerboat race on the Detroit River.

Seattle's Miss Bardahl, piloted by McGuire, skidded on a turn on the first lap of the first heat and hit the pilings on a dock jammed with spectators. No one was injured and the boat was able to limp to the pits with its bow stove in.

Top Three PCL Teams Bow To Cellar Trio

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The have-nots chipped a little glitter off the haves Monday night in the Pacific Coast League—the three top teams bowing to the basement trio while Salt Lake City and Seattle washed the evening in idleness.

Vancouver shook a slump to trounce third-place Tacoma 7-2 as Chet Nichols became the first pitcher in the circuit to post 10 victories. Portland got a stellar hurling job from Glenn McMinn for a 3-1 victory over the second-place Sacramento Solons.

INDIANS CLOBBERED

And clobber is the word for San Diego's 15-7 triumph over Spokane's first place Indians. This was the Tribe's third defeat in four games but their 3½-game margin over Sacramento was unchanged.

Goss homers
Howie Goss gave Nichols the padding he needed in the first frame at Vancouver. After Joe Durham had tallied from third on Bill Werle's wild pitch, Goss hammered his 15th homer of the season and scored behind Jim Dyck.

Gary Peters went the full route for the winning Padres although he gave up 14 hits. But Spokane helped him with two errors and San Diego pounded four Indian hurriers for 18 hits.

McMinn, who was shelved out quickly in his only previous start for Portland, way handed a two-run lead in the first inning and third base defensively for Vancouver.

Piersall Bewildered By Orders To Rest

BOSTON (AP)—Jim Piersall, Cleveland's high-strung outfielder, was bewildered by a doctor's order that he take a rest to soothe his jangled nerves.

"It's a complete shock to me," the Cleveland firebrand said Sunday night. "I don't really understand it."

Piersall, who spent part of 1952 in a suburban Boston hospital after a nervous breakdown, said he had no idea when he may return to the team.

"I'll just wait until I hear from Mr. Lane (general manager Frank Lane)," he said.

Dr. Don Kelly, the Indians' team physician, advised the rest after Piersall was ejected from the second game of a double header with the Yankees in Cleveland. Piersall left immediately and didn't know of the decision until he arrived in Boston to visit his family in suburban Newton.

Blake chuckles when he recalls the incident, but he admits he was a little edgy for a time when he took up his position behind the National Hockey League club's bench.

Four UBC Rowers Take Final Test

By JIM PEACOCK Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four British rowers, in training here for nearly a year with the hope of representing their homeland in the Olympics this August, have booked passage for London.

But they must row with expert finesse here Thursday if they are to realize their ambition—a date in the trials July 11-13 at Henley-on-Thames where the English will choose their Olympic rowing representatives for the Rome games.

Through mutual acquaintances, Green and Leslie got together with Lankester and Armstrong last September and began training here, convinced that North American methods—especially those used by UBC coach Frank Read, whose crews took a gold and silver medal in the last Olympics—are superior to those used in Britain.

Read will have something to say in the final decision. He's kept an eye on them while training his own crews for possible Olympic entry under Canada's colors and he's indicated he feels the British four may be sufficiently conditioned to warrant the trip.

The time trials here will be the final factor in decision of a fund-raising committee whether to send the four-oared coxless crew to the trials.

If they're convincing enough—and the odds are in their favor—they'll leave by air Saturday for London, via New York.

The four are Graham Leslie, 23, Gordon Green, 25, Osric Armstrong, 23, and Charles Lankester, 21, students at the University of British Columbia where they met last summer and undertook their arduous task.

GREEN IN UBC EIGHTS
Green had won a place in the UBC eight's season before, but couldn't row for Canada in the Pan-American Games because he doesn't have his Canadian citizenship. The same reason prevents him from rowing for Canada in the 1960 Olympics.

Many Threats Given In Various Sports

By JACK SULLIVAN Canadian Press Staff Writer

"The next time I see you, I shoot you," read a letter to Joe Blake a couple of years ago. The threat was received after the coach of Montreal Canadiens said publicly that Jean Beliveau, a Canadiens' centre ice star, was off colour physically and was therefore not playing his best hockey.

Blake chuckles when he recalls the incident, but he admits he was a little edgy for a time when he took up his position behind the National Hockey League club's bench.

"Not that I took the guy seriously," Blake says. "But, still, you never know."

There's no place like home for the Baltimore Orioles. Good thing, too. If there was, they wouldn't be contenders in the American League pennant race.

After regaining first place with their second 10-4 road trip of the season, the Birds returned home and slipped to second Monday night, losing to Washington 5-3 in 10 innings when the Senators broke a 2-2 tie with three unearned runs.

The loss ended Baltimore's winning streak at four and put the Orioles three percentage points behind New York Yankees again. It also put their home record at 18-15, compared to a 23-13 mark on the road. This was their third straight loss at home where they've lost seven of their last 10 games.

ONE MAJOR GAME
No other games were scheduled in the majors, although there were three exhibition games, including the 19th annual Hall of Fame game at Cooperstown, N.Y., where Chicago Cubs beat Cleveland 5-0. Los Angeles Dodgers defeated New York 4-3 in a charity game that drew 53,492 fans at Yankee Stadium. And the International League All-Stars rapped Milwaukee Braves 7-2 at Toronto.

The sixth-place Senators twice blew one-run leads behind left-hander Jack Kralick (3-0) who went all the way in his first major-league start. Hoyt Wilhelm (5-5) was the loser in relief, although giving up only a pair of safe bunts. He had won three in a row, all on the road.

In the 10th, Bob Allison and Lennie Green both scored on Marv Breeding's wild throw to the plate on Julio Becquer's grounder. Becquer scored later.

LONGEST STREAK
The Senators, matching their longest success streak of the season with their fourth straight victory, also scored an unearned run off starter Jack Fisher, who gave way to Wilhelm in the ninth. Kralick, 24, gave up nine hits and six walks, but was backed by two double plays and Allison's diving catch in centre with the bases loaded in the eighth.

Dick Drott pitched seven hitless innings for the Cubs at Cooperstown and had a perfect game until he walked Ken Aspromonte on a 3-2 pitch in the seventh. Moe Drabowsky mopped up, allowing two singles. Loser Jack Harshman gave up the Cubs' runs on homers by Dan Murphy, Jerry Kindall and rookie Ron Santo.

The Dodgers, making their first New York appearance since blowing Brooklyn three seasons ago, beat the Yanks when Gil Hodges broke a 3-3 tie with a seventh-inning triple off Ryne Duren for his second RBI. Sandy Koufax won it. Roger Maris had a bases-empty homer off Dodger starter Roger Craig.

Australians Rod Laver and Roy Emerson opposed each other in one quarter-final match while India's Ramanathan Krishnan and Chile's Luis Ayala clashed in the other.

The semi-final is without American contention for the first time in more than a quarter-century. Fraser and Pietrangeli, turning the trick Monday by knocking out Earl Buchholz and Barry MacKay.

The semi-finalists in the women's division also were to be decided today. Christine Truman of Britain was matched against Karen Hantze of the U.S., Sandra Reynolds of South Africa went against American Darlene Hard, Maria Bueno of Brazil was pitted against Britain's Angela Mortimer and Renee Schuurman of South Africa was matched against Ann Haydon of England.

Competent Men Have Guided School Board

Kelowna School District 23 has been fortunate in having competent men head the board of trustees.

The late David Chapman guided the reins of the school board longer than any other individual, although he stepped down after the enlarged school area was set up in 1946.

Following is a list of school board chairmen since School District 23 was formed:

Sept. 1940-Dec. 1946. David Chapman.
Jan. 1947-Dec. 1948. G. C. Hume.
Jan. 1949-Dec. 1949. A. B. Polard.
Dec. 1950-Dec. 1953. G. C. Hume.
Jan. 1954-Dec. 1956. C. T. Hubbard.
Jan. 1957-present. C. E. Staden.

ONE OF THE ORIGINAL SCHOOLS IN VALLEY

One of the original schools built in the Okanagan Valley is located at Benvoulin. This type of elementary school is rapidly disappearing and being replaced by modern structures complete with central heating, modern lighting and lots of glass windows.

"Backroom" Boys Keep Schools Going

The servicing of schools by a custodian and the constant minor and major repairs is a 24 hour a day job.

But the chief aim of the repair, maintenance, building, grounds and equipment committee is to make sure schools are kept clean, bright and functional throughout the year.

Maintenance personnel could be classified as the "backroom boys." Without their efficient and diligent work, the whole educational system would be seriously impaired.

Schools, too, like everything else, need constant modernizing to keep up with changing times.

Halifax Loses Historic Building

HALIFAX (CP) — With the removal of 150-year-old nails, one of the oldest buildings in Halifax is disappearing from the downtown section.

Built in 1800 by Boston-born Judge Sampson Salter Blowers, the three-story, shingled building was later turned into a hotel.

In 1885 it was purchased by the Sisters of Charity, a Roman Catholic order, renamed Victoria Infirmary, and used as a home for the aged. From this it became the nucleus of the Halifax Infirmary.

With construction of a new infirmary in 1919, the building and an adjoining four-storey brick structure became a convent.

A spokesman for the religious order said plans were laid 10 years ago to demolish the old wooden house, but a fire in 1951 destroyed the order's mother house at nearby Rockingham and it was again needed—this time as a home for elderly nuns.

There is no new construction planned for the site.

"We plan to level it off to provide a little more breathing space for the convent and perhaps a parking area," the spokesman said.

SCHOOL FINANCIAL STATEMENT PRESENTED IN TABLOID FORM

This is the first time that the annual report of Kelowna School District 23 has been presented in newspaper tabloid form.

Figures are always figures when presented in financial statements, but unfortunately few people know how to read a financial report properly.

For this reason, the board, in co-operation with The Daily Courier, has attempted to review the school set-up during the last ten years in story and picture form, along with statistics.

This then, is an account of the stewardship of the school trustees over a decade.

AUDITORS' REPORT

Kelowna, B.C.
March 24, 1960.

To the Chairman and Members,
Board of School Trustees,
School District No. 23 (Kelowna),
Kelowna, B.C.

We have examined the balance sheet of School District No. 23 as at December 31, 1959 and the other accompanying statements for the year ended on that date and have obtained all the information and explanation we have required. Our examination included a general review of the accounting procedures and a detailed check of such accounting records and other supporting evidence as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion the accompanying statements are properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the affairs of the District as at December 31, 1959 and the results of its operations for the year ended on that date, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the District.

Additional Schools And Classrooms Built To Meet Population Growth

By ROSEMARY KING

Kelowna School Board Secretary Looking back in past history reminds me a bit of those delightful travelogues of early movies when the viewer was seated on the rear platform of a moving train, speeding down the track.

Facing you was the scenery rapidly being telescoped to a mere pinpoint. Certainly the early days of School District No. 23 have receded to a small point of memory and as we think of our early trials and tribulations, they do seem to have been of less magnitude than the ones facing us today. But that is true in every branch of business no doubt.

We have expanded by leaps and bounds in all facets of our work—in the number of pupils, and teaching personnel—in the number of school buildings—and in custodians and maintenance crew.

The office consisted of two of us, E. W. Burton, the secretary, treasurer, and myself, and our quarters were in the north corner of the Junior High School. Even the board meetings were held in these cramped quarters which meant rearranging all the desks and furniture and waiting around the school for chairs!

BUILDING ROOM

In 1949, at the time when School District No. 23 was created, Kelowna was just beginning an unprecedented boom. Houses were mushrooming in all sections and much industrial expansion was taking place. It wasn't long before the school district was faced with the problem of finding classroom accommodation to keep pace with the population. Before the machinery could be put into motion to start a building program we were having to resort to church halls which were made into temporary classes. Cafeterias and libraries in the larger schools were partitioned off to make needed extra space. And then we started building—and not one year since has there been a lull.

We started in the very first year of our operation adding a one-room addition to the old East Kelowna school and a two-room addition to the Winfield elementary school. And just to add to our troubles about this time two schools—Mission Creek and Okanagan Mission had to commit the great indiscretion of allowing themselves to burn to the ground! Here again we had to search for temporary quarters and were able to house these schools in the Italian Hall on Rizzo Road and the Okanagan Mission Community Hall. From then until the present time we seem to have been continually involved in building plans. 1949-50 stands out in my mind as the peak with the Kelowna High School, Rutland Junior - Senior High School, George Pringle Junior - Senior High School at Westbank as well as the "new" Glenmore Elementary and Marled.

And out in the country, Okanagan Mission, Mission Creek and South Kelowna—all and much industrial expansion of these going on practically concurrently. Incidentally, by this time our office staff had been increased by a half-time stenographer. Finding property suitable for schools has been quite a problem over the years. How many of us recall the old Kelowna Lawn Tennis Club on Harvey Avenue and the old badminton hall which was located at the back of the present high school? Both these institutions had to give way for the expansion of educational facilities. We were fortunate in securing property to carry out our decentralized elementary program within the city, but today it would be well nigh impossible.

Eventually, we caught our breath long enough to gasp that the board also needed more room and so provision was made for our new quarters. In January 1953 we moved into our new office, hardly believing that all the space belonged to us. However by 1956 an addition was badly needed and at the present time we are finding ourselves cramped once again!

Local School Taxation Rate Not Out Of Line

The mill rate to operate schools a school mill rate of 25.9, and in throughout Kelowna School District 23 compares favorably with other areas in the Okanagan Valley.

The 1960 mill rate for this district is 21.53 for the municipalities, and 18.53 for the rural areas. There are 13 school districts in the Okanagan branch organization. Average mill rate for schools this year is 20.73.

Comparing other figures, there are six school districts which have a higher mill rate and an equal number below the Kelowna figure.

The average mill increase this year among the 13 districts is 1.78 mills. Kelowna's increase was 1.65, eight districts having a larger increase and four smaller.

PER PUPIL COST

At the same time, however, the per pupil cost in 1960 is $310, compared with a valley average of $314.50 and a provincial average of $315.62.

The peak year of 1954 produced

This had the effect in this district of dropping the mill rate to 13.39 for the municipalities and 10.39 to the rural areas, but due to adjusted assessments, the saving to the individual was not as great as the reduction in the mill rate would appear to have made, and since 1955, the mill rate for schools has again steadily increased, not only in this district of course, but across the province.

To offset this, the government introduced a homeowner grant of $28 and this year, it was increased to $50. This grant was made to assist the homeowner with tax payments for school costs, according to the government.

School board officials point out that this has, for the moment, halted the cost spiral for the majority of individuals, and as long as the government continues to introduce a balancing feature by direct help to the taxpayer, or increased grants to the school districts, the inevitable increase in school costs spurred on by annual increases in school population, will be shared on a reasonable equal basis.

POLAND TO INVEST MORE

WARSAW, Poland (Reuters)—Poland will spend a total of 66,000,000,000 zlotys (about $16,500,000,000) during the next five years on an increased capital investment program which Western observers say marks a major switch to industrial and agricultural development at the expense of living standards. The official Polish news agency, PAP, Thursday gave details of a report calling for a "considerable expansion" in investments for the 1961-65 five-year plan. The new program will increase investments in heavy industry, agriculture, transport, communications and other facilities.

IMPORTANT "COG"

What Are Functions Of School Representative

School attendance representatives are an important cog in the wheel of Kelowna School District No. 23. The average layman may ask what function do they perform? Actually they perform three important functions: (1) They are responsible for the proper use of the budget as it affects the rural areas; (2) they are consulted by school trustees when a referendum is planned; (3) they represent the school board on educational matters. Representatives meet once a year and elect from their number the required number of trustees for the rural districts.

New Schools Built Like "Mushrooms"

New school buildings and additional classrooms have been springing up like the proverbial mushrooms. There were 20 schools in School District 23, 15 elementary and four secondary schools. Today there are a total of 31 schools; 14 rooms have been added to existing structures and tenders will be called shortly for another 100,000 sq. ft. of space. Land has also been reserved at Okanagan Mission where the next phase of expansion is expected to be.

Operation Of School Bus System Can Be Very Costly

Ever wonder how many students are carried daily aboard Kelowna School District 23 buses? Or how much a bus costs to operate?

Needless to say, the operation of such a transportation system can be costly. However, due to the construction of new schools throughout the district, the trustees have been able to reduce the number of vehicles in operation. But 13 buses are still necessary to take pupils to and from schools. In the opinion of the school board, this is the minimum number that can be operated in an efficient manner.

Some 1,200 students are carried daily over 20 routes throughout the school district which extends from Winfield south to Peachland.

For the mathematical mind, a school bus costs approximately $7,000; has a life of about 10 years, and costs from $2,300 to $2,700 a year to operate.

"CENTRALIZATION"

The policy adopted by the school trustees is that students will be picked up in their respective districts on the basis of them being over three miles away in the case of secondary pupils, and 2 1/2 miles for elementary students.

A few years ago, the transportation bill was a great deal higher than it is today. However, since the school board adopted a "decentralization" policy in regard to schools, new structures are expected to be resumed have been built throughout the district, and this saves the transportation bill.

Portation of students into larger centres such as Kelowna, Winfield, Rutland and Westbank all have senior high schools, whereas it was not too many years ago that students had to be transported to Kelowna for classroom instruction.

Ancient Sanctuary

Unearthed In Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—

The remains of a sanctuary, dating back to the third century B.C. and believed to have been devoted to Aphrodite, the goddess of love, have been discovered by Cypriot workmen leveling a dry river bed in northwestern Cyprus.

Experts believe the most interesting find in this discovery is the remains of a statuette of Aphrodite and a fragment of relief, both in white marble. The head, arms and feet of the Aphrodite statuette, which belongs to Hellenistic times (third century B.C.), are missing.

The discoveries include a large piece of column, probably an altar, fragments of marble slabs, fragments of painted stucco and many tiles.

The municipality of Morphou since has bought the strip of ground on which the remains are located. Excavations are expected to be resumed shortly to establish the extent and real identity of the remains.

Construction Is Far From Elementary

All parents are aware that many intricate subjects have to be mastered from kindergarten days, through to graduation. So it is with construction . . . a multitude of regulations must be known and applied . . . trade-skilled craftsmen hired for each phase that the plans demand . . . Every contract calls for specialized knowledge and building material characteristics must be recognized and selected for each project . . . Time plays an important part, too, schedules must be adhered to, for continuity and economy of operation, this necessitates the use of complicated and expensive modern machinery. Far from elementary, you will agree, to build a school or other commercial building, requires lots of know-how and equipment.

Busch Construction Co. Ltd. wish to congratulate the Trustees of School District 23, not only for their commendable achievement, past and present, but also for this, a unique and comprehensive public presentation of The School Story, in words and pictures.

TWO ADDITIONS SINCE SCHOOL BUILT

Two additions have been added to the Raymer Avenue elementary school since it was built in 1950. Increased population in the south end of the city necessitated four rooms being added in 1957, and another four rooms and an activity room the following year. Raymer Avenue was one of the first elementary schools to be built when Kelowna made a move to "decentralize" schools.

NEW BUILDINGS NECESSARY

School Population Jumps By Leaps And Bounds

School population in Kelowna has increased 37.65 percent in the last decade, while the number of teachers has jumped 54.30 percent. These figures were released by the school board in pointing out the necessity of building additional classrooms and engaging more instructors. For instance, in 1950, the total school population was 4,061 with a teaching staff of 149. Today there are 5,590 children attending schools in the area, and there are 230 teachers. The biggest increases came in the years 1956 when school population jumped by 290 pupils. Intense emphasis in expansion has been other years, however, the increase ranged anywhere from 100 to 200 children. The secondary schools require specialist teachers, such as home economics, industrial arts and commercial courses, over and above other subjects and as the student increase is in the secondary schools. Approximately 60 percent of the student increase is in the secondary schools.

Every additional student needs space — a desk—text books—and other materials with which to work. Every new student starts a chain reaction of cost, which of course, is the basic reason for an increased budget every year. Of course, this is only the beginning. There are many more increased costs, such as wages, additional equipment, materials and supplies of all kinds, and higher costs for buildings.

"FRILLS" IN SCHOOLS?

How Many Wives Use A Scrub Board For Washing?

How many housewives use a scrub board for washing? Or a mer. How many people commute by bus? Ridiculous question, one may say. Yet the same parallel could be drawn insofar as schools are concerned. Many people complain on the so-called "frills" in present day schools. Yet the "frills" are no different to the changes that have come about in home decoration, appliances, or—yes transportation. It was not so many years ago—during the horse and buggy days—that children attended schools that were inadequately lighted or heated—where there were no gymnasiums, no chemistry rooms—no facilities where a trade may be learned. Today, as children grow up in a different world to the one experienced in yester years, the educational atmosphere has changed so that the future citizens of tomorrow may be able to take full advantage of the teaching facilities available.

School District No. 23 (Kelowna) FACTS and FIGURES

Every year the Board of School Trustees prepare an annual report which is distributed to those attending the Rural Attendance Area meetings from October 15 - November 15.

Due to the small attendance at these meetings, not many people see this report.

Every year in June, a balance sheet is published in the press, and while many people see this, perhaps, figures being what they are — somewhat of a conundrum — not many people appreciate what these figures mean.

Then too, we are all busy people, and because events crowd on us, one succeeding the other very rapidly, our memories are apt to play tricks with us, and distort things which have past, into glowing pictures of things as they once were, and make us feel that the present is the worst part of our lives.

Because of all these things, the Board of School Trustees felt it might be opportune, now that we have left the 1950's for the 60's, to review and bring up to date, the 10 years of education supervision carried on by your local School District Board and officials.

This, then, that you are reading, is a ten year inventory: an account of the stewardship of your School Trustees over a decade.

No attempt will be made to delve into academic performances except very briefly, but rather will we try to balance financially the achievement with the cost, and present a lucid picture of the operations of School District No. 23 (Kelowna).

To do this thoroughly, we will make comparisons with other Districts from time to time, without, we hope, hurting their feelings in any way.

You may find that the figures produced do not balance with your memory of what school costs used to be. For instance, would you have thought that the City of Kelowna is paying nearly 9% less in school costs than in 1950, or that the rural area is over 6% down on its costs, and that your school mill rate is still one mill less than it was in 1950 (excepting Glenmore) and every home owner has a $50.00 annual home-owner grant to help with the cost.

How come? — look at the figures.

City of Kelowna — little over twice the revenue to pay little over twice the cost.

Glenmore — 5 times the revenue to pay 4 times the cost.

Peachland — twice the revenue to pay twice the cost.

Rural Area — Almost 3 times the revenue, to pay a little over twice the cost.
